

Marketing: building a customer profile

Machine learning based solution for customer profiling and customer base assessment

The solution uses machine learning to evaluate the customer: his/her purchases, behavior, response to marketing activities.

The solution uses the collected information to segment customers and develop a "profile" of the most profitable of them. The system generates a value model to target specific retention programs to customers.

